Chapter I. Letter to Shareholders

Dear Shareholders,

Chia Chang would like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to all shareholders for your support to the Company in the past year.

The global economy was affected by the Russia-Ukraine War in 2022, which resulted in a sharp rise in global energy and raw material prices. China's pandemic prevention and control measures also exerted an impact on the global supply chain. In addition, in view of the continuous inflation in Europe and the U.S., the U.S. Federal Reserve adopted rapid interest rate increases and curtailment of bond purchases to combat inflation, which led to a significant depreciation in non-USD currencies. The obvious decline in global demand for end-use products has driven the world to gradually move toward a new type of development.

In 2022, Chia Chang's consolidated revenue amounted to NT$7.839 billion, a year-on-year decrease of 10% from NT$8.718 billion in 2021. With respect to profit, consolidated net income after tax for 2022 amounted to approximately NT$644 million, of which NT$645 million was attributable to the owners of the parent company, and basic earnings per share was NT$4.53, compared to consolidated net income after tax of NT$908 million in 2021, of which NT$909 million was attributable to the owners of the parent company, and basic earnings per share was NT$6.38, a year-on-year decrease of 29%.

Looking ahead, although the impact of the pandemic has gradually eased, we are still facing the impact of geopolitics, climate anomalies, interest rate decisions by the U.S. Federal Reserve, demand for end-use products, and the shift of production capacity in the global supply chain to diversify risks. With a solid financial position and manufacturing experience accumulated over the past years, Chia Chang will continue to adjust its product portfolio, accelerate digital automation and related costs improvement operations, and take more flexible measures to seek more growth opportunities in an attempt to build a solid foundation in the next generation of smart manufacturing.

In terms of the regulatory environment, in addition to focusing on the regulations of corporate governance, the pressure of carbon reduction due to climate change will be one of the most important policy goals in the international community in the future. Chia Chang will also continue to promote energy conservation activities, use energy-saving equipment, reduce energy consumption, work together to reduce global carbon, and fight against global warming to create the next sustainable low-carbon world.

Although we have encountered various challenges from the environment in the short term, over the years, Chia Chang has always adhered to our core value and beliefs of creating a friendly environment, giving back to society, caring for employees and sustainable development, and leading all colleagues and partners to grow together amid constant challenges. We would like to extend our gratitude to all employees, customers, shareholders and partners for their support and trust in Chia Chang over the years. We are confident in the future of the Company and look forward to maintaining a long-term relationship with you to jointly create a prosperous future.

We wish you good health and all the best!

Yours Sincerely

Chairman and President

Mr. Kuei-Hsiu Sung

(3) The Company's current products (services)

We mainly produce metal internal and external mechanical components for LCD TVs, notebooks, tablets, LCD monitors, car displays, industrial computers, Internet communications, etc., such as Bezel, Back Cover, Heat Sink, Inverter Cover, Shielding, Small Size Products (Lamp Cover, Ground Plate, Bracket), etc.

(4) New products (services) to be developed

The Company is a professional metal stamping factory with precision mold design and manufacturing capabilities. We cooperate with panel manufacturers, backlight module manufacturers and system manufacturers to produce TV, NoteBook, Monitor, Tablet, vehicle and Internet communication products and other related components that meet the market size of TFT-LCD. As the end consumer electronic products continue to develop towards the trend of lightness, thinness, integration of internal and external components and metal appearance, we will continue to enhance our precision stamping technology and maintain the cooperative relationship with our customers in order to provide them with high standard service quality. In addition, in order to protect the Company from the impact of a single industry and to extend its business footprint, the Company has already entered the medical, Internet communication, and server industries, and is taking orders from large international brand customers to gradually increase its revenue.

(II) Industry Overview

(1) Current Status and Development

In recent years, the market size and applications of end electronic products have been increasing, such as 3C, Internet communication, medical, automotive, VR/AR and other electronic products, etc. The difficulty of manufacturing process also extends to more precise and flexible direction. In this regard, manufacturers with the ability to develop and design molds or a higher degree of automation can achieve relative advantages in production costs, quality and production efficiency. In order to meet the market demand and increase the added value of electronic products in the face of the short life cycle of electronic products and the characteristics of rapid change, Chia Chang will continue to devote itself to precision mold development and production to ensure stable quality and provide customers with diversified choices and high quality products. Chia Chang is mainly engaged in the production of metal stamping internal and external mechanical components for TFT-LCD related products, and the main applications include NB, Tablet, Monitor and other products.

1) Notebook

According to research firm TrendForce, there was a rapid reversal in demand due to the global political and economic situation in 2022. Global notebook shipments declined quarter by quarter, with only about 186 million units shipped for the year, an annual decline of 24.5%. The world will still be affected by the political and economic uncertainty in 2023, with an estimated annual decline of about 7.8% and merely 171 million units shipped. Moreover, due to the weak demand in the market, the traditional cyclical momentum in the fourth quarter of 2022 failed to grow. The disposable income of consumers was under high pressure. Although the notebook brand manufacturers offered promotional prices in North America and China, the sales results were still not as expected. It is expected that end inventory de-stocking will continue until the second quarter of 2023, which will further affect the conservative and cautious ordering of channels. In addition, according to Digitimes, global Chromebook shipments in 2019 were 13.97 million units, an annual increase of 12%, and grew significantly to 30.43 million units in 2020. The peak was maintained until the second half of 2021. Global Chromebook shipments fell to 14.65 million units by 2022, down 56.3% annually.

2) Tablet

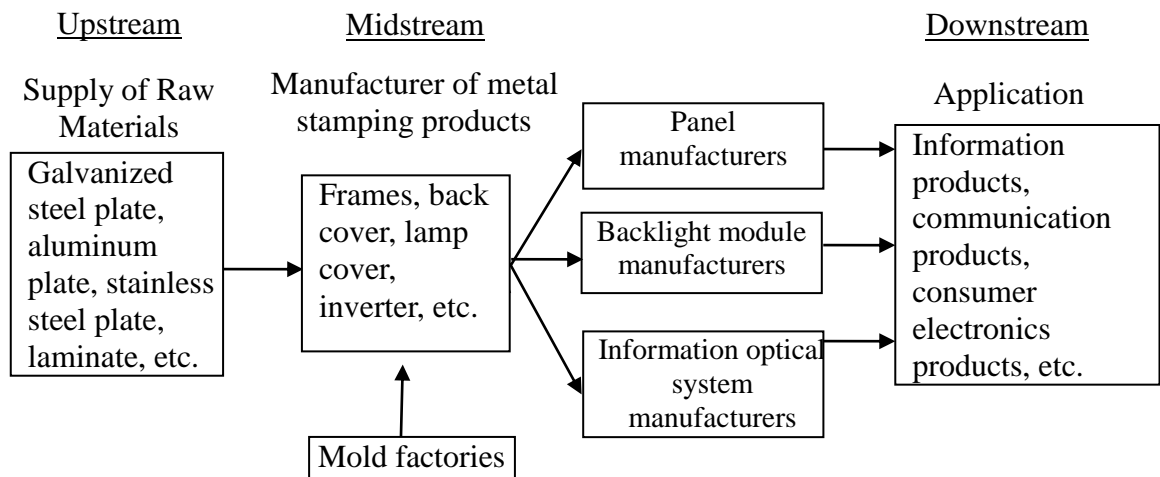

According to the statistics of Digitimes, the demand for global tablets benefited from the pandemic in 2020, with total shipments amounting 154 million units. In the next two years, with the gradual easing of the pandemic dividend, coupled with the impact of the poor economy, high inflation and rising interest rates, global tablet sales momentum also continued to decline with the decline of pandemic dividend, falling to about 141 million units in 2021 and further declining to nearly 138 million units in 2022. With the slowdown in the market demand, we are conservative about the future shipments.

3) LCD monitor

According to research firm TrendForce, the overall performance of global LCD monitor shipments in the first half of 2022 was relatively stable. However, the decrease in corporate budget, significant slowdown in business demand, and the impact of inflation and interest rate hikes on the consumer market in the second half of the year resulted in a significant reduction in demand for consumer electronics. Global LCD monitor shipments are expected to be 135 million units in 2022, down 7% year on year. Taking into account the easing of the pandemic-driven demand and the uncertainty of the global political and economic situation, it is estimated that the global LCD monitor shipments in 2023 will be approximately 127 million units, an annual decline of about 5.8%, back to pre-pandemic levels.

(2) Relationship Amongst Upstream, Midstream, and Downstream Sections of the Industry

The upstream of stamping products are mainly raw material suppliers, while the downstream covers almost all industries. For the Company, the main products are TFT-LCD related stamping components. The upstream, midstream and downstream correlations are as follows:

(3) Product Development Trends

The Company produces a wide range of internal and external components for a wide range of applications, mainly in consumer electronics, automotive, and Internet communication products. Therefore, changes in the economic climate and technology development have a considerable impact on the production and sales of end products.

At the beginning of each year, CES is a major event in the technology industry and a trend predictor of technology development. Digitimes mentioned that the products exhibited by the NB brand companies this year have focused three main points: firstly, faster speed, including processor speed and screen refresh rate; secondly, more and larger screens, such as dual-screen laptops and 18-inch gaming laptops; and finally, more energy-saving and environmental protection, such as the use of recycled materials for PC. In addition, according to Omdia, OLED notebook panel shipment in 2022 is estimated to be about 6 million pieces, which is slightly lower than the previous estimation, mainly due to the weak demand in the notebook market.

However, after Samsung Display withdrew from LCD panels and switched to OLED panels to enter the notebook panel market, it is estimated that the target of OLED notebook panel shipment in 2023 will be 8.5 million pieces, with an annual growth of more than 40%. If Apple launches OLED panel notebooks in 2024, it will significantly push up the penetration rate of the product.

Research institute Digitimes reported that the tablet brand manufacturers in 2022 to significantly introduce OLED panels, with the penetration rate exceeding 6% for the first time, compared with the previous two years of only 2.1%, 2.8%. However, it is expected that the proportion of flat panel products using OLED panels will drop to 5.6% in 2023, mainly due to the slowdown in market demand and prudent costs consideration of the industry players. In addition, the penetration rate of AMOLED in tablet PC was 2.5% in 2022, and is expected to grow to 18% in 2030.

According to the research firmTrendForce, in anticipation of continued economic downturn, it may become more important to upgrade LCD monitors to maintain profitability than to pursue larger shipments, such as developing high-end OLED monitors, or actively planning to upgrade existing 60Hz or 75Hz products to 100Hz currently implemented by Dell and Acer. In addition, gaming monitor shipments faced the first decline in 2022 since the launch of the product. It is estimated that the shipment will decline to 20.5 million units, an annual decline of 10%, mainly due to the accelerated inflation in Europe and interest rate hikes in North America, seriously affecting and crowding out product demand. Looking ahead to 2023, it is expected that with the increasing variety of panel supplies and brand launches, there will be a chance to maintain shipment growth. In addition, TrendForce also mentioned that curved gaming monitors accounted for 44% of the total gaming monitors in 2022 and are expected to reach 46% in 2023. The reason for the growth is not only the increase in panel supply and high price/performance ratio, but also the increase in the market share of Ultra-Wide products, which is one of the reasons for the increase in curved products.

(4) Competition

Our main products are metal mechanism parts and mold design and manufacturing for various electronic products. The main competitors include Jochu, etc. Although there are many competitors, Chia Chang has continued to cultivate its customers and has diversified processes and production lines, with production locations throughout China's optoelectronic supply chain clusters. Each subsidiary operates at a certain scale. In addition, With many years of experience in precision mold development, design and manufacturing, Chia Chang has the ability to develop and design professional molds. As a result, the Company has secured a leading position in the industry in terms of its scale, production technology and ability to receive orders.

II. Analysis of the Market as well as Production and Marketing Situation

(I) Market Analysis

1. Sales Regions of Main Products

Unit: NT$ thousands; %

Sales Regions	2021		2022
	Amount	%	Amount	%
Mainland China	6,910,941	79.27	5,719,647	72.97
Taiwan	1,779,283	20.41	2,080,689	26.54
Others	28,274	0.32	38,351	0.49
Total	8,718,498	100.00	7,838,687	100.00

2. Market share

The Company is a manufacturer of TFT-LCD metal stamping parts and components. We have the ability to integrate mold design and manufacturing, metal stamping, various surface treatment processes and assembly. The scope of product applications is wide in range, including: consumer electronics, information products, in-car products, network products, etc. Since the material, specification and unit price of metal stamping parts vary depending on the end product they are used in, it is not easy to compile information on the market share of each manufacturer. In addition, because of more than 30 years of experience in mold development, design, and manufacturing, Chia Chang has secured a leading position in the industry in terms of company size, production technology, ability to receive orders, and quality of goods delivered.

3. Future Market Supply, Demand, and Growth Potential

The Company produces a wide range of mechanical parts for applications such as notebooks, tablets, monitors and car display, etc. As the end products continue to develop in the direction of differentiation, light weight, large size, good texture, etc., the stamping technology has been refined. In addition, with the change of design structure, the mold technology and production process also need to be adjusted accordingly, which also bring challenges to the resilience of the stamping factory.

Tablets and notebooks have not changed much in terms of design. The consumer dividend of remote learning and work at home driven by the pandemic in recent years has come to an end. End-market demand is mostly in recession. As the market for monitors is relatively mature, end-market demand has witnessed a slight increase or decrease.

As a professional manufacturer of metal stamping parts, we provide customers with services from product design, mold development and manufacturing, stamping, processing, assembly, etc. In addition to a certain scale of domestic and overseas production capacity, we have also installed automated machinery and equipment to improve production efficiency, with considerable economies of scale in response to future market changes.

4. Competitive Niches

(1) Economy of scale to enter barriers and meet customer needs

The optoelectronics industry is a highly capital-intensive and technology-intensive industry, with rapid product changes and stringent requirements for quality and delivery in the industry supply chain efficiency. The Company has accumulated long-term experience and technology in the field of optoelectronic stamping, and has already established an economy of scale model in mold design and manufacturing capacity. The Company is relatively sound financially, which creates a certain degree of entry barrier for new entrants and existing small-scale operators.

(2) Precision integration technology of mold to provide diversified services

The Company has a competitive advantage in mold development in terms of precision and speed, especially in assisting customers in the early stage of product design and providing advice on product design improvement during subsequent mold trials, which shortens the time for customer certification and subsequent mass production, so that customers do not have to look for additional mold vendors and think about alternative production capacity.

(3) Provide integrated design and manufacturing service for internal and external mechanisms of stamping parts and components

The Company has the ability to provide integrated design and manufacturing services for internal and external mechanisms of stamping parts and components, providing customers with one-stop integration services for the manufacture of functional internal mechanical components and external surface metal parts, helping customers to reduce supply chain costs and add value.

(4) Complete supply chain deployment to provide customers with flexibility in product production

Mainland China is one of the world's most important supply chains and one of the world's largest manufacturing plants. Taiwan, Japan, and Korea's major optoelectronics and information technology companies have established operations in Mainland China. The Company has established production bases in the Yangtze River Delta in eastern China and Chongqing in western China through indirect investment to serve the global manufacturers nearby. Compared with other stamping factories in the industry, the Company has entered China earlier and enjoys an advantage over the industry in terms of construction cost.

(5) Dedicated to the development of automated equipment to provide production flexibility and quick response capability

Through our accumulated experience in optoelectronics production, we are committed to developing and designing automated production equipment and enhancing process automation through customized robots, which not only provide production flexibility and quick response capability, but also allow vertical integration to improve production efficiency and product quality.

(6) Dedicated to the industry and high professionalism of the management team

The Company has strict requirements on product quality and technical standards, and we are constantly developing new products, which gives us a competitive advantage in the optoelectronic metal stamping industry. The current management team is dedicated to the industry and is experienced in changes in the industry environment, product development trends, production and manufacturing, and marketing operations. We have great confidence in our overall competitiveness and sustainable management.

5. Favorable and Unfavorable Factors of Development Prospects and Countermeasures

(1) Favorable factors

A. Expanding penetration of the LCD market application market

The LCD application market has expanded from information electronics to home appliances and automotive applications, with a wide range of downstream applications. The increasing range of applications and the continuous upgrade of product technologies have led to the expansion of new applications, such as smart seats for automobiles. In addition to the stable production of our existing optoelectronic products, we are benefiting from the continuous development trend of new application markets, with solid growth of our operating outlook.

B. Quality and delivery well recognized by customers

Our main customers are major optoelectronic panel manufacturers in Taiwan, China and Korea, as well as backlight module manufacturers with global capability. We have been cultivating the optoelectronic metal stamping market for many years and have accumulated an excellent quality image and reputation in the industry. We have built up a good reputation among our customers, which is conducive to developing customers and gaining business.

C. Production capacity and economy of scale of mold design and development to meet customers' production needs

The Company has a complete cross-strait optical and metal stamping distribution, with production sites in major optical and information supply chain clusters in China. With our flexibility in mold development and manufacturing technology, we have a competitive advantage over our competitors and can provide more differentiated and high value-added products, thus raising the barrier of entry for our competitors.

(2) Unfavorable Factors and Countermeasures

A. Large fluctuations in raw material prices that affect parts costs

Countermeasures:

1. Through suppliers, we collect information on market dynamics and continue to develop new available materials. In addition, we reduce the impact of short-term (about one quarter) procurement cost increases by pre-ordering important raw materials.
 2. Continue to improve our process technology and strengthen our mold-making capability to enhance our competitiveness. We promote cost-cutting projects to strictly control our management and sales expenses.
 3. We collect information on exchange rate changes in a timely manner to effectively reduce the impact of exchange rate changes on revenue and profitability.
- B. Short product lifecycle and increased enterprise management risk
- Countermeasures:
- The life cycle is getting shorter and shorter due to rapid advancement of information and optoelectronic related products. The order cycle of customers is also getting shorter. The Company adopts order production and strictly controls the raw materials with special specifications to actively reduce inventory and minimize the loss of product stagnation.
- C. Continued compression of product prices and margins
- Countermeasures:
- As the panel metal stamping suppliers have many competitors, with the trend of large size and low price of LCDs, when the panel makers face the pressure of price reduction, it will further compress the price and gross margin of the component suppliers. This causes suppliers to compete by cutting prices.
- The Company will continue to produce high value-added stamping components and actively upgrade its production technology to increase the proportion of production of high margin products, and continue to improve process technology and automation in order to reduce costs.

(II) Functions and Manufacturing Processes for Main Products

1. Important Functions of Main Products

Our main products are TFT-LCD frames (Bezel) and back covers. The design of TFT-LCD module is based on the goal of thinness and lightness, so the selection of shape and material is quite limited, as shown in the following figure: The main structure of TFT-LCD module is composed of three major parts: Bezel, Panel Assy and BLU.

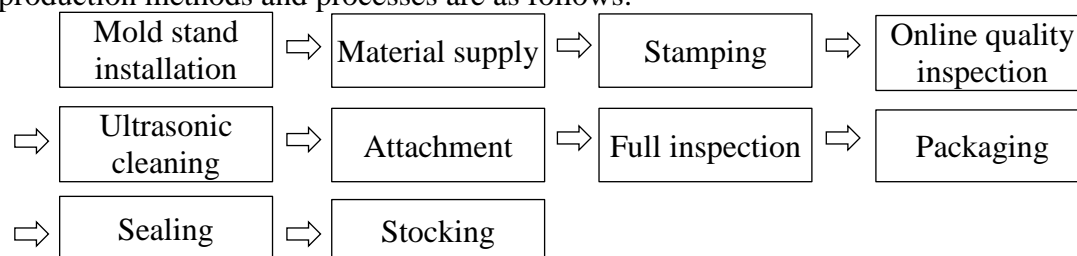

The structure of the backlight module mainly consists of light source, light guide, prism, diffuser, reflective film and back cover, etc. The back cover is the main support structure of the backlight module, and also serves as a barrier for electromagnetic interference. It promotes heat dissipation and temperature uniformity to avoid local overheating. Therefore, the material used must not only meet the above requirements, but also provide sufficient mechanical strength and be able to withstand complex processing shapes. The structure of the backlight module is based on the plastic frame as the main body, together with some Optic Film, light guide and lamp assembly (Lamp Assy - including lamp shade, lamp shielding), so the whole module is actually the frame combined with the plastic frame to wrap all the parts. The Bezel is stronger than the plastic frame with simpler design. Therefore, the design of Bezel and Back Cover becomes an important part of the overall structure of TFT-LCD.

2. Manufacturing Process

We are a professional manufacturer of metal stamping products. Our main business items are Bezel, Back Cover, Lamp Cover, Inverter for TFT-LCD, etc. The production methods and processes are as follows:

Note 1. The annual financial information for the most recent five years is certified by CPAs. As of the date of publication of the annual report, there is no information on the financial statements for 2023 that has been certified or reviewed by an accountant.

Note 2. Formulas for IFRS financial ratios:

1. 1. Financial structure

(1) Debt ratio = Total liabilities/Total assets

(2) Ratio of long-term funds to property, plant, and equipment = (Total equity + Non-current liabilities) /Net property, plant, and equipment

2. Solvency
 - (1) Current ratio = Current assets/Current liabilities
 - (2) Quick ratio = (Current assets - Inventory - Prepaid expenses)/Current liabilities
 - (3) Interest earned ratio = Earnings before interest and taxes/Interest expenses
3. Operating performance
 - (1) Accounts receivable turnover rate (including accounts receivable and bills receivable from business activities) = Net sales/Balance of average accounts receivable in each period (including accounts receivable and bills receivable from business activities)
 - (2) Average collection period = 365/Accounts receivable turnover
 - (3) Inventory turnover rate = Cost of sales/Average inventory
 - (4) Payables turnover rate (including accounts payable and bills payable from business activities) = Cost of sales/Balance of average accounts payable in each period (including accounts payable and bills payable from business activities)
 - (5) Average days in sales = 365/Inventory turnover
 - (6) Property, plant and equipment turnover rate = Net sales/Average net property, plant, and equipment
 - (7) Total asset turnover rate = Net sales/Average total assets
4. Profitability
 - (1) Asset return ratio = [Profit or loss after tax + Interest expenses \times (1 - Tax rate)]/Average total assets
 - (2) Return on shareholders' equity = Profit or loss after tax/Average total equity
 - (3) Profit ratio = Profit or loss after tax/Net sales
 - (4) Earnings per share = (Income attributable to shareholders of parent company - Preferred shares dividends)/Weighted average number of shares issued (Note 4)
5. Cash Flow
 - (1) Cash flow ratio = Net cash flows from operations/Current liabilities
 - (2) Cash flow adequacy ratio = Net cash flow from operating activities for the most recent five years/(Capital expenditures + Inventory increment + Cash dividends) for the most recent five years
 - (3) Cash reinvestment ratio = (Net cash flow from operating activities - Cash dividends)/(Gross property, plant, and equipment + Long-term investment + Other non-current assets + Working capital) (Note 5)
6. Leverage
 - (1) Operating leverage = (Net operating revenue - Variable operating costs and expenses)/Operating income (Note 6)
 - (2) Financial leverage = Operating income/(Operating income - Interest expenses)

Note 3. The above formula for calculating earnings per share should be measured with particular attention to the following:

1. The weighted-average number of common shares is based on the number of shares outstanding at the end of the year.
2. The weighted-average number of common shares is based on the weighted-average number of shares outstanding at the end of the year.
3. If there is a capital increase from earnings or capital surplus, the percentage of capital increase should be adjusted retroactively in the calculation of prior years' and semiannual earnings per share, without regard to the period of issuance of the capital increase.
4. If the preferred shares are non-convertible cumulative preferred shares, the dividends (whether paid or not) for the year should be deducted from net income after tax or increased by net loss after tax. If the preferred stock is non-cumulative, the dividends should be reduced by the net income after tax if there is a net income after tax; if there is a loss, no adjustment is required.

Note 4. Cash flow analysis should be measured with particular attention to the following:

1. Net cash flow from operating activities represents the net cash inflow from operating activities in the cash flow statement.

2. Capital expenditures represent the annual cash outflow from capital investments.
3. Increases in inventories are included only when the ending balance is greater than the opening balance, or zero if inventories are reduced at the end of the year.
4. Cash dividends include cash dividends on common stock and preferred stock.
5. Gross amount of property, plant and equipment represents the total amount of property, plant and equipment before deducting accumulated depreciation.

Note 5. The issuer should distinguish operating costs and operating expenses into fixed and variable based on their nature. If estimates or subjective judgments are involved, the issuer should pay attention to their reasonableness and maintain consistency.

Note 6. If the Company's stock has no par value or has a par value other than NT$10 per share, the calculation of the ratio of paid-in capital is based on the ratio of equity attributable to the owners of the parent company in the balance sheet.

The main reasons and impacts of major changes in assets, liabilities and equity (with changes by at least 10% with an amount reaching NT$10 million), the main reasons for such changes, their effects and future plans:

Due to the impact of the pandemic and the adjustment of product mix by customers, the operating revenue, gross profit and pre-tax profit of our mainland subsidiary in 2022 was lower than those in 2021.

1. The decrease in current assets was mainly due to the decrease in accounts receivable and inventories compared to last year.
2. The increase in other assets was mainly due to the increase in prepayment for equipment compared to last year.
3. The decrease in current liabilities and total liabilities was mainly due to the decrease in accounts payable and short-term loans compared to last year.
4. The increase in other equity was mainly due to the change in foreign currency exchange rate and the difference in translation of foreign currency statements, which had no significant impact on the Company's future financial position.

The amount of capital expenditure for new equipment in 2022 was NT$113 million, accounting for approximately 1.44% of net sales, which has no significant impact on the Company's financial operations.

V. Company Reinvestment Policy for the Most Recent Fiscal Year, Main Reasons for Profits/Losses Generated Thereby, Plan for Improving Re-investment Profitability, and Investment Plans for Coming Year :

(I) Reinvestment Policy of the Company:

The Company's reinvestment policy is to align with the Company's business development strategy and operational needs. In the future, the Company will continue to focus on the development needs of the industry and long-term strategic investments, and adjust the scale of the Group's operations in line with the global supply chain layout of customers. We will continue to carefully evaluate our investment plans and consider to dispose of our investment as and when appropriate.

(II) Main reasons for profit or loss :

In recent years, the Group's investment policy has been to make timely disposal of non-core investments in strategic targets that are complementary to the markets in which the Group expects to develop. The main reasons for the profitability of the investment in recent years are the economy of scale of production and operation of the reinvestment business, the implementation of the management system and the market recognition of the products. The Company will continue to counsel and integrate new and loss-making subsidiaries in order to accelerate the reduction of losses in some subsidiaries so as to achieve profitability targets and to maximize the combined effect of M&A as soon as possible.

(III) Improvement plan and investment plan for the coming year: None.

VI. Risk Analysis and Assessment for the Most Recent Fiscal Year and as of the Date of Publication of the Annual Report:

(I) Risk factors

1. Effects of Changes in Interest Rates, Foreign Exchange Rates and Inflation on Corporate Finance, and Future Response Measures

(1) Interest rate change:

The interest rate risk of the Company and its subsidiaries mainly arises from floating-rate debt borrowed for operating and investment activities, which may cause fluctuations in cash flows due to changes in market interest rates. In order to reduce interest rate risk and increase the uncertainty of financing costs, the Company evaluates and closely monitors the impact of price changes on the Company from time to time. The Company and its subsidiaries will, depending on market conditions, enter into hedging transactions for financial instruments to reduce the impact of interest rate fluctuations at appropriate times.

Net interest income and expenses accounted for 0.67% and 0.77% of the Company's revenue in 2021 and 2022, and approximately 5.85% and 9.34% of the Company's net income after tax.

In terms of assets, the Company and its subsidiaries are conservative and prudent in capital allocation, mainly depositing in bank deposits and highly liquid capital-protected financial products to protect the principal and maintain liquidity.

(2) Exchange rate change:

A. Effect of exchange rate changes on the Company's revenue and profitability

Unit: NT$ thousands; %

Item	2021	2022
Net foreign exchange gain or loss	(53,557)	195,793
Sales Revenue	8,718,498	7,838,687
Net foreign exchange gain or loss/ sales revenue (%)	(0.61)	2.50
Operating Profit	1,175,272	851,258
Net foreign exchange gain or loss/operating profit (%)	(4.56)	23.00

The Company and its subsidiaries are exposed to foreign currency exchange rate risk primarily from foreign currency denominated cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, loans and accounts payable. Therefore, fluctuations in international exchange rates may affect foreign-currency-denominated operating revenues, operating costs and even profitability. In order to avoid the adverse effect of exchange rate changes on the operating results of the Company and its subsidiaries, the Company and its subsidiaries enter into forward exchange contracts with financial institutions to hedge the exchange rate risk of foreign currencies for the Company's foreign-currency-denominated assets and liabilities, in order to reduce the impact of exchange rate risk on the profit or loss of the Company and its subsidiaries.

The exchange gain for the year was NT$195,793 thousand. We will continue to hedge the exchange rate risk in the future. The ratio of foreign exchange gain to sales revenue for the last two years were (0.61%) and 2.50%, respectively, and the ratio of foreign exchange gain to operating income for the last two years were (4.56%) and 23.00%, respectively.

As for the deployment of foreign exchange funds, through recurring foreign sales and import transactions, foreign currency debts and liabilities are offset to achieve a natural hedge effect to reduce foreign exchange risk. In the future, the main strategy for foreign exchange risk control will continue to be the natural hedge of foreign currency positions, and the positions of foreign currency assets and liabilities will be adjusted in a timely manner to reduce the risk of exchange rate fluctuations. The Company maintains close relationships with financial institutions, continuously observes exchange rate fluctuations, and flexibly adjusts foreign currency positions in the spot market; when necessary in the forward market, the Company undertakes foreign exchange hedging instruments in accordance with changes in foreign exchange revenues and expenses and the foreign exchange market to reduce exchange rate risk.

(3) Inflation:

In recent years, the overall economic environment has shown a slight inflationary trend due to the uncertainty of global economic conditions and rising prices. As of the date of publication of the annual report, the Company has not been materially affected by inflation.

The Company also pays attention to the fluctuation of raw material market prices, maintains good interaction with suppliers and customers, adjusts raw material inventories appropriately, sets purchase quantities in advance and changes purchase pricing currencies to weaker currencies to reduce the impact of price increases.

2. The Company's Policy Regarding High-Risk Investments, Highly Leveraged Investments, Loans to Other Parties, Endorsements, Guarantees, and Derivatives Transactions; The Main Reasons for the Profits/Losses Generated Thereby; And Response Measures to Be Taken in the Future:

- (1) The Company and its subsidiaries do not engage in high-risk, high-leverage investment activities and conduct capital allocation and hedging activities based on conservative and prudent principles.

- (2) The Company's lending of funds to others is mainly based on the capital financing needs of each reinvestment company to enhance its flexibility in the use of working capital, and is carried out in accordance with the Company's "Procedures for Lending Funds to Others" with limited risk.
- (3) As of the date of publication of the annual report, the Company and its subsidiaries provide endorsement and guarantee only to affiliates of the Company or its subsidiaries.
- (4) The Company engages in derivative transactions mainly for the purpose of hedging the risks arising from changes in exchange rates of foreign-currency assets or liabilities and in accordance with the Company's "Procedures for the Acquisition or Disposal of Assets", and the risk is limited.

3. Research and Development Work to Be Carried Out in the Future, and Further Expenditures Expected for Research and Development Work:

Research and development plan:	Estimated completion schedule
Mini led optical reflection cup new process and technology development	Early 2023
Development of automotive cooling module process	End of 2023
Development of defective products as qualified products	Early 2023
Netcom man-machine equipment development	End of 2023

The Company's R&D plans are based on industry trends and are carried out in a highly integrated and cost-effective manner. R&D expenses amounted to NT$77,536 thousand and NT$76,871 thousand for 2022 and 2021, respectively, accounting for 0.99% and 0.88% of revenue for each year. Due to the continuous evolution of the technology, we still need to invest in R&D to develop new products that meet the specifications of next-generation automotive applications, Internet communication, servers and in-vehicle products. The above R&D expenses for future R&D plans represents approximately 1.81% of the total revenue budget for 2023.

4. Effects of and Response to Changes in Policies and Regulations At Home and Abroad Relating to Corporate Finance and Sales:

As of the date of publication of the annual report, there were no policy and legal changes that had a material adverse effect on the Company's financial operations. The Company's operating team will pay close attention to important domestic and international policy and legal changes in order to take appropriate measures and reduce the impact in a timely manner.

5. Effects of and Response to Changes in Technology (including ICT security risk) and the Industry Relating to Corporate Finance and Sales

The TFT-LCD industry is faced with the continuous development of new technologies and new products, coupled with the accelerated replacement of mainstream products in the market. The Company's management team keeps an eye on the changes in technology and product demand in the industry, captures the market trend, and evaluates the impact on the Company's operations. The Company also strengthens the management of network security and establishes comprehensive network and computer-related information security measures to reduce operational risks, such as strengthening firewalls and anti-virus and anti-hacking tools, introducing complete backup solutions to ensure data security, and strengthening employees' awareness of information security through regular information security education training. As of the date of publication of the annual report, there were no changes in technology or industry changes that had a material impact on the Company's financial operations.

6. The Impact of Changes in Corporate Image on Corporate Risk Management, and the Company's Response Measures:

It is the Company's responsibility to comply with laws and regulations, to value the rights of employees and shareholders, and to fulfill its corporate social responsibility. In case of crisis events and potential external risks, if there is any concern about the impact on the Company's operations or corporate image, the Company will immediately activate the crisis management mechanism, and the relevant personnel will understand the status of the event and conduct risk assessment of the various impacts as soon as possible and take necessary measures. The Company's crisis communication plan also adheres to the principle of open communication to ensure that employees, customers, authorities, the investing public, the news media and relevant stakeholders are kept informed of the latest situation in a timely manner. As of the date of publication of the annual report, no corporate crisis has occurred as a result of changes in corporate image.

7. Expected Benefits from, Risks Relating to and Response to Merger and Acquisition Plans:

The Company and its subsidiaries have no M&A plan in the most recent year and as of the publication date of the annual report. However, if there is any M&A plan in the future, we will follow the relevant regulations and adopt a prudent assessment attitude to consider whether it can bring concrete comprehensive effect to the Company, so as to protect the interests of the Company and shareholders' rights.

8. Expected Benefits from, Risks Relating to and Response to Factory Expansion Plans

At present, the Company and its subsidiaries' main planning focus is to fully utilize the existing production capacity to maximize the economy of scale, so there is no significant need for plant expansion in the near future.

9. Risks Associated With Any Consolidation of Sales or Purchasing Operations, and Mitigation Measures Being or to Be Taken:

(1) Purchase:

The company's main purchases are scattered in domestic and foreign manufacturers. In addition to establishing good relationships with existing suppliers, we have more than two sources of supply for each raw material, and there is no risk of concentration of supply.

(2) Sales:

The Company's top 10 customers accounted for 80.60% and 80.73% of net sales revenue in 2021 and 2022, respectively, which is a relatively concentrated percentage. It was mainly because the panel optoelectronics industry is a highly capitalized industry with a tendency for the big players to stay big, which is in line with the characteristics of the industry in which we operate. Therefore, the percentage of sales to the top ten customers increased.

10. Effects of, Risks Relating to and Response to Large Share Transfers or Changes in Shareholdings by Directors or Shareholders with Shareholdings of over 10%:

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Chia Chang Co., Ltd.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Chia Chang Co., Ltd. (the "Corporation") and its subsidiaries (collectively referred to as the "Group"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies (collectively referred to as the "consolidated financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The key audit matters of the Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 are stated as follows:

Occurrence of Recognized Sales Revenue

Chia Chang Co., Ltd. and subsidiaries engage mainly in manufacturing metal stamping of internal and external mechanical parts and related products. Although the overall market demand in 2022 declined, there was still an increase in the sales revenue due to sales made to certain customers. Since the amount and proportion of sales revenue are significant, we considered the occurrence of recognized sales revenue from certain customers as a key audit matter to the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. Refer to Notes 4 and 21 to the consolidated financial statements for the accounting policies on revenue recognition.

The audit procedures we have performed in respect of the above key audit matter included understanding, assessing and testing of the effectiveness of the design and implementation of the internal control related to the sales revenue. We selected sample transactions of those sales to certain customers and verified the occurrence of sales revenue. We selected sample balances of accounts receivable from those certain customers and performed confirmation procedures. We conducted alternative audit procedures to those who failed to respond to confirmation request immediately and validated the relevant transaction documents and verified the occurrence of sales revenue.

Other Matter

We have also audited the parent company only financial statements of Chia Chang Co., Ltd. as of and for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 on which we have issued an unmodified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, IFRS, IAS, IFRIC and SIC endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance (including members of the audit committee) are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audits resulting in this independent auditors' report are Yao-Lin Huang and Shih-Chieh Chou.

b. Basis of preparation

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for financial instruments which are measured at fair value.

The fair value measurements, which are grouped into Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value measurement inputs are observable and based on the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, are described as follows:

- 1) Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;
- 2) Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for an asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices); and
- 3) Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for an asset or liability.

c. Classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities

Current assets include:

- 1) Assets held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Assets expected to be realized within 12 months after the reporting period; and
- 3) Cash and cash equivalents unless the asset is restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least 12 months after the reporting period.

Current liabilities include:

- 1) Liabilities held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Liabilities due to be settled within 12 months after the reporting period; and
- 3) Liabilities for which the Group does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least 12 months after the reporting period.

Assets and liabilities that are not classified as current are classified as non-current.

d. Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of the Corporation and its subsidiaries. Income and expenses of subsidiaries acquired or disposed of during the period are included in the consolidated statement of comprehensive income from the effective date of acquisition up to the effective date of disposal, as appropriate. When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiaries to bring their accounting policies into line with those used by the Group. All intra-group transactions, balances, income and expenses are eliminated in full upon consolidation. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the owners of the Corporation and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

Changes in the Group's ownership interests in subsidiaries that do not result in the Group losing control over the subsidiaries are accounted for as equity transactions. The carrying amounts of the interest of the Group and the non-controlling interests are adjusted to reflect the changes in their relative interests in the subsidiaries. Any difference between the amount by which the non-controlling interests are adjusted and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity and attributed to the owners of the Corporation.

See Note 11, Table 5 and Table 6 for detailed information on subsidiaries (including percentages of ownership and main businesses).

e. Foreign currencies

In preparing the financial statements of each individual entity, transactions in currencies other than the entity's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Exchange differences on monetary items arising from settlement or translation are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value is determined. Exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items are included in profit or loss for the period except for exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognized directly in other comprehensive income, in which cases, the exchange differences are also recognized directly in other comprehensive income.

Non-monetary items that are measured at historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

For the purpose of presenting consolidated financial statements, the functional currencies of the Corporation's foreign operations (including subsidiaries and associates in other countries) that are prepared using functional currencies which are different from the currency of the Corporation are translated into the presentation currency, the New Taiwan dollar, as follows: Assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the end of the reporting period; income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates for the period. The resulting currency translation differences are recognized in other comprehensive income (attributed to the owners of the Corporation and non-controlling interests as appropriate).

f. Inventories

Inventories consist of raw materials, supplies, finished goods and work in progress and are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Inventory write-downs are made by item, except where it may be appropriate to group similar or related items. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price of inventories less all estimated costs of completion and costs necessary to make the sale. Inventories are recorded at the weighted-average cost on the balance sheet date.

g. Investments in associates

An associate is an entity over which the Group has significant influence and which is neither a subsidiary nor an interest in a joint venture.

The Group uses the equity method to account for its investments in associates.

Under the equity method, investments in an associate are initially recognized at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Group's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the associate. The Group also recognizes the changes in the Group's share of the equity of the associate attributable to the Group.

Any excess of the cost of acquisition over the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of an associate at the date of acquisition is recognized as goodwill, which is included within the carrying amount of the investment and is not amortized. Any excess of the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities over the cost of acquisition, after reassessment, is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

When the Corporation subscribes for additional new shares of an associate at a percentage different from its existing ownership percentage, the resulting carrying amount of the investment differs from the amount of the Group's proportionate interest in the associate. The Group records such a difference as an adjustment to investments with the corresponding amount charged or credited to capital surplus - changes in capital surplus from investments in associates accounted for using the equity method. If the Group's ownership interest is reduced due to its additional subscription of the new shares of the associate, the proportionate amount of the gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate is reclassified to profit or loss on the same basis as would be required had the investee directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. When the adjustment should be debited to capital surplus, but the capital surplus recognized from investments accounted for using the equity method is insufficient, the shortage is debited to retained earnings.

When the Group's share of losses of an associate equals or exceeds its interest in that associate (which includes any carrying amount of the investment accounted for using the equity method and long-term interests that, in substance, form part of the Group's net investment in the associate), the Group discontinues recognizing its share of further loss, if any. Additional losses and liabilities are recognized only to the extent that the Group has incurred legal obligations, or constructive obligations, or made payments on behalf of that associate.

The entire carrying amount of an investment (including goodwill) is tested for impairment as a single asset by comparing its recoverable amount with its carrying amount. Any impairment loss recognized is not allocated to any asset, including goodwill, that forms part of the carrying amount of the investment. Any reversal of that impairment loss is recognized to the extent that the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases.

The Group discontinues the use of the equity method from the date on which its investment ceases to be an associate. Any retained investment is measured at fair value at that date, and the fair value is regarded as the investment's fair value on initial recognition as a financial asset. The difference between the previous carrying amount of the associate attributable to the retained interest and its fair value is included in the determination of the gain or loss on disposal of the associate. The Group accounts for all amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate on the same basis as would be required had that associate directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities.

When the Group transacts with its associate, profits and losses resulting from the transactions with the associate are recognized in the Group's consolidated financial statements only to the extent of interests in the associate that are not related to the Group.

h. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss.

Except for freehold land which is not depreciated, the depreciation on property, plant and equipment is recognized using the straight-line method. Each significant part is depreciated separately. The estimated useful lives, residual values and depreciation method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effects of any changes in the estimates accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

i. Investment properties

Investment properties are properties held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation. Investment properties also include land held for a currently undetermined future use.

Investment properties are initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss. Depreciation is recognized using the straight-line method.

On derecognition of an investment property, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

j. Intangible assets

Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment loss. Amortization is recognized on a straight-line basis. The estimated useful life, residual value, and amortization method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimates accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an intangible asset, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

k. Impairment of property, plant and equipment, right-of-use asset, investment properties, and intangible assets other than goodwill

At the end of each reporting period, the Group reviews the carrying amounts of its property, plant and equipment, right-of-use asset, investment property, and intangible assets, excluding goodwill, to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss. When it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Corporate assets are allocated to the individual cash-generating units on a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation. Corporate assets are allocated to the smallest group of cash-generating units on a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation.

The recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. If the recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is reduced to its recoverable amount, with the resulting impairment loss recognized in profit or loss.

When an impairment loss is subsequently reversed, the carrying amount of the corresponding asset or cash-generating unit is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but only to the extent of the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset or cash-generating unit in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss.

l. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

1) Financial assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis.

a) Measurement category

Financial assets are classified into the following categories: Financial assets at FVTPL, financial assets at amortized cost and equity instruments at FVTOCI.

i. Financial asset at FVTPL

Financial asset is classified as at FVTPL when such financial assets are mandatorily classified as at FVTPL. Financial assets mandatorily classified as at FVTPL include investments in equity instruments which are not designated as at FVTOCI and financial assets that do not meet the amortized cost criteria.

Financial assets at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value, and any dividends or interest earned on such financial assets are recognized in other income and interest income, respectively; any remeasurement gains or losses on such financial assets are recognized in other gains or losses. Fair value is determined in the manner described in Note 26.

ii. Financial assets at amortized cost

Financial assets that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortized cost:

- i) The financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- ii) The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Subsequent to initial recognition, financial assets at amortized cost, including cash and cash equivalents, notes receivable and accounts receivable, other financial assets - current, other receivables and refundable deposits, are measured at amortized cost, which equals to gross carrying amount determined by the effective interest method less any impairment loss. Exchange differences are recognized in profit or loss.

Interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the gross carrying amount of a financial asset, except for:

- i) Purchased or originated credit-impaired financial asset, for which interest income is calculated by applying the credit-adjusted effective interest rate to the amortized cost of the financial asset; and
- ii) Financial asset that is not credit impaired on purchase or origination but has subsequently become credit impaired, for which interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the amortized cost of such financial assets in subsequent reporting periods.

A financial asset is credit impaired when one or more of the following events have occurred:

- i) Significant financial difficulty of the issuer or the borrower;
- ii) Breach of contract, such as a default;
- iii) It is becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or undergo a financial reorganization; or
- iv) The disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties.

Cash equivalents include time deposits with original maturities within 3 months from the date of acquisition, which are highly liquid, readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments.

iii. Investments in equity instruments at FVTOCI

On initial recognition, the Group may make an irrevocable election to designate investments in equity instruments as at FVTOCI. Designation at FVTOCI is not permitted if the equity investment is held for trading or if it is contingent consideration recognized by an acquirer in a business combination.

Investments in equity instruments at FVTOCI are subsequently measured at fair value with gains and losses arising from changes in fair value recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in other equity. The cumulative gain or loss will not be reclassified to profit or loss on disposal of the equity investments, instead, they will be transferred to retained earnings.

Dividends on these investments in equity instruments are recognized in profit or loss when the Group's right to receive the dividends is established, unless the dividends clearly represent a recovery of part of the cost of the investment.

b) Impairment of financial assets

The Group recognizes a loss allowance for expected credit losses on financial assets at amortized cost (including accounts receivable).

The Group always recognizes lifetime Expected Credit Loss (ECL) for accounts receivable. For all other financial instruments, the Group recognizes lifetime ECLs when there has been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition. If, on the other hand, the credit risk on a financial instrument has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Group measures the loss allowance for that financial instrument at an amount equal to 12-month ECLs.

Expected credit losses reflect the weighted average of credit losses with the respective risks of a default occurring as the weights. Lifetime ECL represents the expected credit losses that will result from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument. In contrast, 12-month ECL represents the portion of lifetime ECL that is expected to result from default events on a financial instrument that are possible within 12 months after the reporting date.

For internal credit risk management purposes, the Group considers the following situations as indication that a financial asset is in default (without taking into account any collateral held by the Group):

- i. Internal or external information shows that the debtor is unlikely to pay its creditors.
- ii. Financial asset is more than 150 days past due unless the Group has reasonable and corroborative information to support a more lagged default criterion.

The impairment loss of all financial assets is recognized in profit or loss by a reduction in their carrying amount through a loss allowance account.

c) Derecognition of financial assets

The Group derecognizes a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party.

On derecognition of a financial asset at amortized cost in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable is recognized in profit or loss. On derecognition of an investment in an equity instrument at FVTOCI, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable is recognized in profit or loss, and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognized in other comprehensive income is transferred directly to retained earnings, without recycling through profit or loss.

2) Equity instruments

Debt and equity instruments issued by an entity are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

Equity instruments issued by an entity are recognized at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

The repurchase of the Corporation's own equity instruments is recognized in and deducted directly from equity, and its book value is calculated based on the weighted average of stock types. No gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of the Corporation's own equity instruments.

3) Financial liabilities

a) Subsequent measurement

All the financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

b) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid, including any non-cash assets transferred or liabilities assumed, is recognized in profit or loss.

m. Revenue recognition

The Group identifies contracts with customers, allocates the transaction price to the performance obligations and recognizes revenue when performance obligations are satisfied.

Revenue from the sale of goods comes from sales of metal stamped products. Sales of metal stamped products are recognized as revenue according to the terms of the sale agreed with the customer, such as when the goods have been delivered to the customer's specific location because it is the time when the customer has full discretion over the manner of distribution and price to sell the goods, has the primary responsibility for sales to future customers and bears the risks of obsolescence. Accounts receivable are recognized concurrently.

The Group does not recognize revenue on materials delivered to subcontractors because this delivery does not involve a transfer of control.

n. Leases

At the inception of a contract, the Group assesses whether the contract is, or contains, a lease.

1) The Group as lessor

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of a lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Lease payments (less any lease incentives payable) from operating leases are recognized as income on a straight-line basis over the terms of the relevant leases.

2) The Group as lessee

The Group recognizes right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for all leases at the commencement date of a lease, except for short-term leases and low-value asset leases accounted for applying a recognition exemption where lease payments are recognized as expenses on a straight-line basis over the lease terms.

Right-of-use assets are initially measured at cost. Right-of-use assets are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses and adjusted for any remeasurement of the lease liabilities. Right-of-use assets are presented on a separate line in the consolidated balance sheets

Right-of-use assets are depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement dates to the earlier of the end of the useful lives of the right-of-use assets or the end of the lease terms.

Lease liabilities are initially measured at the present value of the lease payments, which comprise fixed payments and in-substance fixed payments. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in a lease, if that rate can be readily determined. If that rate cannot be readily determined, the lessee's incremental borrowing rate will be used.

Subsequently, lease liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, with interest expense recognized over the lease terms. When there is a change in a lease term, the Group remeasures the lease liabilities with a corresponding adjustment to the right-of-use-assets. However, if the carrying amount of the right-of-use assets is reduced to zero, any remaining amount of the remeasurement is recognized in profit or loss. Lease liabilities are presented on a separate line in the consolidated balance sheets.

o. Retirement benefits

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are recognized as expense when employees have rendered service entitling them to the contributions.

Defined benefit costs (including service cost, net interest and remeasurement) under defined benefit retirement benefit plans are determined using the projected unit credit method. Service cost (including current service cost and past service cost) and net interest on the net defined benefit liability (asset) are recognized as employee benefit expenses in the period in which they occur. Remeasurement, comprising actuarial gains and losses and the return on plan assets (excluding interest), is recognized in other comprehensive income in the period in which it occurs. Remeasurement recognized in other comprehensive income is reflected immediately in retained earnings and will not be reclassified to profit or loss.

Net defined benefit liability (asset) represents the actual deficit (surplus) in the Group's defined benefit plan. Any surplus resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of any refunds from the plans or reductions in future contributions to the plans.

p. Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

1) Current tax

Income tax payable (recoverable) is based on taxable profit (loss) for the year determined according to the applicable tax laws of each tax jurisdiction.

According to the Income Tax Law in the ROC, an additional tax on unappropriated earnings is provided for in the year the shareholders approve to retain earnings.

Adjustments of prior years' tax liabilities are added to or deducted from the current year's tax provision.

2) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognized for all deductible temporary differences, unused loss carry forward and unused tax credits for purchases of machinery, equipment and technology and research and development expenditures, and personnel training expenditures to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, except where the Group and the associates are able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are only recognized to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered. A previously unrecognized deferred tax asset is also reviewed at the end of each reporting period and recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realized, based on tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Group expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

3) Current and deferred taxes for the period

Current and deferred taxes are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity; in which case, the current and deferred taxes are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGMENTS AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION AND UNCERTAINTY

In the application of the Group's accounting policies, management is required to make judgments, estimations, and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis by the Group's management. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised if the revisions affect only that period or in the period of the revisions and future periods if the revisions affect both current and future periods.

As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the interest rates of the time deposits with original maturities more than 3 months were 0.76%-5.20% and 0.22%-2.85%, respectively.

Total accounts receivable at amortized cost	$ 2,658,467	$ 3,500,115

The average credit period of sales of goods was 60-180 days. No interest is charged on unpaid accounts receivable.

In order to mitigate credit risk, the management of the Group has delegated qualified personnel in accordance with the segregation of duties principle to be responsible for determining credit limits, credit approvals and other monitoring procedures to ensure that follow-up action is taken to recover overdue debts. In addition, the Group reviews the recoverable amount of each individual trade debt at the end of the year to ensure that adequate allowance is made for possible irrecoverable amounts. In this regard, the management believes the Group's credit risk was significantly reduced.

The Group measures the loss allowance for trade receivables at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs. The expected credit losses on accounts receivable are estimated using a provision matrix prepared by reference to the past default experience of the customer, the customer's current financial position, economic condition of the industry in which the customer operates. As the Group's historical credit loss experience does not show significantly different loss patterns for different customer segments, the provision for loss allowance based on past due status is not further distinguished according to the Group's different customer base.

The Group writes off accounts receivable when there is evidence indicating that the debtor is in severe financial difficulty and there is no realistic prospect of recovery of the receivables. For accounts receivable that have been written off, the Group continues to engage in enforcement activity to attempt to recover the receivables due. Where recoveries are made, these are recognized in profit or loss.

The following table details the loss allowance of notes and accounts receivable based on the Group's provision matrix.

These investments in equity instruments are held for medium to long-term strategic purposes. Accordingly, the management elected to designate these investments in equity instruments as at FVTOCI as they believe that recognizing short-term fluctuations in these investments' fair value in profit or loss would not be consistent with the Group's strategy of holding these investments for long-term purposes.

The Group's share of:
Net income (loss) and comprehensive income (loss)	$ (82,051)	$ 109,821

The Group held an interest in Top Taiwan XIII Venture Capital Co., Ltd. and it was accounted for as an associate. On May 17, 2022, three additional directors were elected by the Corporation through the resolution of the shareholders in their meeting and the Group ceased to have significant influence over Top Taiwan XIII Venture Capital Co., Ltd. The Group accounted for the remaining interests as financial assets at FVTOCI rather than using the equity method. This transaction resulted in the recognition of a loss on disposal, which was calculated as follows:

Proceeds from disposal	$ -
Plus: Fair value of retained investment	44,752
Less: Carrying amount of investment on the date of loss of significant influence	(48,669)
Loss recognized	$ (3,917)

When the Group's share of loss of an associate equals or exceeds its interest in that associate, the Group discontinues recognizing its share of further loss, if any. The amounts of unrecognized share of losses of Zen Material Technology Inc. and Chia Chain Precious Hardware & Electronics (Suzhou) Co., Ltd. from the relevant financial statements of the associates, both for the year and cumulatively, were as follows:

	For the Year Ended December 31

The Group leases certain land, plant and office with lease terms from 2019 to 2025. These arrangements do not contain renewal or purchase options.

The Group also leases land for producing products in China with lease terms of 44 to 50 years. The Group does not have bargain purchase options to acquire the leasehold land at the end of lease terms.

15. INVESTMENT PROPERTIES

Except for depreciation recognized during the year, the Group did not have significant addition, disposal, or impairment of investment properties for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021. Investment properties are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of 45 years.

Management was unable to reliably measure the fair value of investment properties located at Dafeng St., Luzhu District, Taoyuan City 338028, Taiwan (ROC) because of the remote location. The market for comparable properties is inactive and alternative reliable measurements of fair value are not available; therefore, the Corporation determined that the fair value of the investment properties is not reliably measurable.

The investment properties of the Group were held under freehold interests. The investment properties pledged as collateral for bank borrowings are set out in Note 28.

19. RETIREMENT BENEFIT PLANS

a. Defined contribution plans

The Corporation and the its domestic subsidiaries adopted a pension plan under the Labor Pension Act (LPA), which is a state-managed defined contribution plan. Under the LPA, an entity makes monthly contributions to employees' individual pension accounts at 6% of monthly salaries and wages.

The subsidiaries in China are subject to relevant local pension insurance system and annually appropriate a fixed percentage of the salary as the pension cost deposited in designated responsible institution.

b. Defined benefit plans

The Corporation adopted the defined benefit plan under the Labor Standards Act, under which pension benefits are calculated on the basis of the length of service and average monthly salaries of the six months before retirement. The Corporation contribute amounts equal to 2% of total monthly salaries and wages to a pension fund administered by the pension fund monitoring committee. Pension contributions are deposited in the Bank of Taiwan in the committee's name. Before the end of each year, The Corporation assesses the balance in the pension fund. If the amount of the balance in the pension fund is inadequate to pay retirement benefits for employees who conform to retirement requirements in the next year, The Corporation is required to fund the difference in one appropriation that should be made before the end of March of the next year. The pension fund is managed by the Bureau of Labor Funds, Ministry of Labor ("the Bureau"). The Corporation has no right to influence the investment policy and strategy.

All the employees of the Corporation who are under the defined benefit plan have been converted to defined contribution plan in 2014. The Corporation no longer recognized cost of defined benefit since 2015.

For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Corporation contributed $67 thousand and $66 thousand, respectively, to the retirement fund deposited in the Bank of Taiwan. The fair value of plan assets increased by $447 thousand and $91 thousand respectively, because of the interest on the deposits.

 - 2) Such capital surplus arises from the effects of changes in ownership interests in subsidiaries resulting from equity transactions other than actual disposals or acquisitions or from changes in capital surplus of subsidiaries accounted for using the equity method.
- c. Retained earnings and dividends policy

The amendments to Articles of Incorporation were resolved by the shareholders in their meeting on June 22, 2022. Under the dividends policy as set forth in the amended Articles, where the Corporation made a profit in a fiscal year, the profit shall be first utilized for paying taxes, offsetting losses of previous years, setting aside as legal reserve 10% of the remaining profit, setting aside or reversing a special reserve in accordance with the laws and regulations, and then any remaining profit together with any undistributed retained earnings shall be used by the Corporation's board of directors as the basis for proposing a distribution plan, which should be resolved by the shareholders in their meeting for the distribution of dividends and bonuses to shareholders. In the preceding paragraph, the board of directors is authorized to adopt a resolution to distribute dividends and bonuses in cash, and a report should be submitted in the shareholders' meeting. For the policies on the distribution of compensation of employees and remuneration of directors after the amendment, refer to compensation of employees and remuneration of directors in Note 22-(e).

The Corporation distributes dividends after taking into consideration its future capital needs and long-term financial plans. Where the Corporation made a profit in a fiscal year, the Corporation could propose cash dividends between 10% and 100% of distributable earnings. The shareholders may adjust the ratio of dividends to reflect the profit and the adequacy of capital.

Appropriations of earnings to legal reserve shall be made until the legal reserve equals the Corporation's paid-in capital. The legal reserve may be used to offset deficits. If the Corporation has no deficit and the legal reserve has exceeded 25% of the Corporation's paid-in capital, the excess may be transferred to capital or distributed in cash. In the preceding paragraph, the board of directors is authorized to adopt a resolution to capital or distributed in cash, and a report should be submitted in the shareholders' meeting.

When a special reserve is appropriated for cumulative net debit balance reserves from prior period, the special reserve is only appropriated from the prior unappropriated earnings.

The appropriations of earnings for 2021 and 2020 that had been resolved by the shareholders in their meetings on June 22, 2022 and July 30, 2021, respectively, were as follows:

Additional special reserve should be appropriated for the amount equal to the difference between net debit balance reserves and the special reserve appropriated on the first-time adoption of IFRSs. Therefore, the Group recognized impairment losses of $1,569 thousand for the years ended December 31, 2021. 24. EARNINGS PER SHARE

The earnings and weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding used in the computation of earnings per share were as follows:

Net Income for the Year

	For the Year Ended December 31
	2022	2021
Earnings used in the computation of basic and diluted earnings per share	$ 644,914	$ 908,801

Weighted average number of ordinary shares used in the computation of diluted earnings per share	144,358	144,003

The Group may settle the compensation of employees in cash or shares; therefore, the Group assumes that the entire amount of the compensation will be settled in shares, and the resulting potential shares will be included in the weighted average number of shares outstanding used in the computation of diluted earnings per share, as the effect is dilutive. Such dilutive effect of the potential shares is included in the computation of diluted earnings per share until the number of shares to be distributed to employees is resolved in the following year.

25. CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

The Group manages its capital to ensure that entities in the Group will be able to continue as going concerns while maximizing the return to stakeholders through the optimization of the debt and equity balance. The Group's overall strategy remains unchanged.

The capital structure of the Group consists of net debt (borrowing offset by cash and cash equivalents) and equity attributable to owners of the Corporation (comprising issued capital, reserves, retained earnings and other equity).

Key management personnel of the Group review the capital structure on an annual basis. In order to balance the overall capital structure, the Group may adjust the amount of dividends paid to shareholders, or the number of new shares issued or repurchased.

26. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

a. Fair value of financial instruments that are not measured at fair value

The disclosures of fair value are not required for financial instruments that are not measured at fair value but with carrying value approximating fair value such as cash and cash equivalents, notes and accounts receivable, other financial assets-current, refundable deposits, short-term borrowings, notes payable, accounts payable, other payables, long-term borrowings, and guarantee deposits.

b. Fair value of financial instruments that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis

1) Fair value hierarchy

Recognized in other comprehensive income or loss	(13,697)
Balance at December 31, 2021	$ 164,082

3) Valuation techniques and inputs applied for Level 3 fair value measurement

For the domestic non-listed stocks held by the Group and measured at fair value, such fair value is determined by market approach and asset-based approach. The market approach is referring to the observable market price or to the comparable company. The asset-based approach is evaluating the total value of the individual assets and individual liabilities covered by evaluation target to measure its fair value.

c. Categories of financial instruments

d. Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Group's major financial instruments include equity investments, accounts receivable, accounts payable, borrowings and lease liabilities. The Group's corporate treasury function provides services to the business, coordinates access to domestic and international financial markets, monitors and manages the financial risks relating to the operations of the Group through internal risk reports which analyze exposures by degree and magnitude of risks. These risks include market risk (including foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.

The Group seeks to minimize the effects of these risks by using derivative financial instruments to hedge risk exposures. The use of financial derivatives is governed by the Group's policies approved by the board of directors, which provided written principles on foreign currency risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, the use of financial derivatives and non-derivative financial instruments, and the investment of excess liquidity. Compliance with policies and exposure limits is reviewed by the internal auditors on a continuous basis. The Group did not enter into or trade financial instruments, including derivative financial instruments, for speculative purposes. The Corporation's treasury function reports quarterly to the Corporation's board of directors.

1) Market risk

The Group's activities exposed it primarily to the financial risks of changes in foreign currency exchange rates (see (a) below) and interest rates (see (b) below).

There has been no change to the Group's exposure to market risks or the manner in which these risks were managed and measured.

a) Foreign currency risk

The Group has foreign currency denominated sales and purchases, which expose the Group to foreign currency risk. Parts of the Group's sales are denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the entity in the Group making the sale, whilst parts of costs are denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the entity in the Group. Exchange rate exposures are managed within approved policy parameters utilizing foreign exchange forward contracts.

The carrying amounts of the Group's foreign currency denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities (excluding those eliminated on consolidation) and of the derivatives exposed to foreign currency risk at the end of the year are set out in Note 29.

The Group was mainly exposed to the U.S. dollar.

The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a 1% increase and decrease in the New Taiwan dollar (i.e., the functional currency) against the U.S. dollar. The sensitivity analysis included only outstanding foreign currency denominated monetary items, and adjusts their translation at the end of the year for a 1% change in foreign currency rates. A positive number below indicates a decrease in pre-tax profit associated with the New Taiwan dollar strengthening 1% against the U.S. dollar. For a 1% weakening of the New Taiwan dollar against the U.S. dollar, there would be an equal and opposite impact on pre-tax profit, and the balances below would be negative.

	U.S. Dollar Impact
	For the Year Ended December 31
	2022	2021
Profit or loss*	$ 27,831	$ 27,810

* The result was mainly attributable to the exposure on outstanding receivables and payables in U.S. dollar which were not hedged at the end of the reporting period.

b) Interest rate risk

The Group was exposed to interest rate risk because entities in the Group borrow funds at fixed interest rates.

The carrying amounts of the Group's financial assets and financial liabilities with exposure to interest rates at the end of the reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2022	2021
Fair value interest rate risk
Financial assets	$ 2,185,723	$ 2,322,308
Financial liabilities	212,298	494,403
Cash flow interest rate risk
Financial assets	1,975,587	1,808,106

The sensitivity analysis below was determined based on the Group's exposure to interest rates for non-derivative instruments at the end of the reporting period. For floating rate assets, the analysis was prepared assuming the amount of the asset outstanding at the end of the reporting period was outstanding for the whole year.

If interest rates had been 25 basis points higher/lower and all other variables were held constant, the Group's pre-tax profit for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have increased/decreased by $4,730 thousand and $4,077 thousand, respectively.

c) Other price risk

The Group was exposed to equity price risk through its investments in equity securities. Equity investments are held for strategic rather than trading purposes. The Group does not actively trade these investments.

The sensitivity analyses below were determined based on the exposure to equity price risks at the end of the reporting period. If equity prices had been 1% higher/lower, the pre-tax other comprehensive income for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have increased/decreased by $1,920 thousand and $1,641 thousand, respectively, as a result of the changes in financial assets at FVTOCI.

2) Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that the counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Group. At the end of the reporting period, the Group's maximum exposure to credit risk, which would cause a financial loss to the Group due to the failure of the counterparty to discharge its obligation, could be equal to the total of the carrying amount of the respective recognized financial assets as stated in the balance sheets.

In order to mitigate credit risk, the management of the Group has delegated qualified personnel in accordance with the segregation of duties principle to be responsible for determining credit limits, credit approvals and other monitoring procedures to ensure that follow-up action is taken to recover overdue debts. In addition, the Group reviews the recoverable amount of each individual trade debt at the end of the year to ensure that adequate allowance is made for possible irrecoverable amounts. In this regard, the management believes the Group's credit risk was significantly reduced.

Since the counterparty of current funds and derivative financial instruments is a financial institution with a good credit rating, the Group does not expect any material credit risk.

The Group's concentration of credit risk of 50% and 53% of total accounts receivable as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively, was attributable to the Group's three largest customers.

3) Liquidity risk

The Group manages liquidity risk by monitoring and maintaining a level of cash and cash equivalents deemed adequate to finance the Group's operations and mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows. In addition, management monitors the utilization of bank borrowings and ensures compliance with loan covenants.

* Including the amount signed by the Group and the bank.

The following table details the Group's remaining contractual maturities for its non-derivative financial liabilities with agreed upon repayment periods. The table has been drawn up based on the undiscounted cash flows of financial liabilities from the earliest date on which the Group can be required to pay. The table includes both interest and principal cash flows.

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Chia Chang Co., Ltd.

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Chia Chang Co., Ltd. (the "Corporation"), which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.(collectively referred to as the "financial statements")

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Corporation as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Corporation in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The key audit matters of the Corporation's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 are described as follows:

Occurrence of Recognized of Sales Revenue

Chia Chang Co., Ltd. engages mainly in manufacturing metal stamping of internal and external mechanical parts and related products. Although the overall market demand declined in 2022, there was still a significant increase in the sales revenue due to sales made to certain customers. Since the amount and proportion of sales revenue are significant, we considered the occurrence of recognized sales revenue from certain customers as a key audit matter of the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022. Refer to Notes 4 and 17 to the financial statements for the accounting policies on revenue recognition.

The audit procedures we have performed in respect of the above key audit matter included understanding, assessing and testing of the effectiveness of the design and implementation of the internal control related to the sales revenue. We selected sample transactions of those sales to certain customers to verify the occurrence of sales revenue. We selected sample balances of accounts receivable from those certain customers and performed confirmation procedures. We conducted alternative audit procedures to those who failed to respond to confirmation request immediately and validated the relevant transaction documents to verify the occurrence of sales revenue.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Corporation or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance (including members of the audit committee) are responsible for overseeing the Corporation's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Corporation's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Corporation to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Corporation to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audits resulting in this independent auditors' report are Yao-Lin Huang and Shih-Chieh Chou.

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

- a. Statement of compliance

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

- b. Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for financial instruments which are measured at fair value.

The fair value measurements, which are grouped into Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value measurement inputs are observable and based on the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, are described as follows:

- 1) Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;
- 2) Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for an asset or liability, either directly (i.e., as prices) or indirectly (i.e., derived from prices); and
- 3) Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for an asset or liability.

When preparing these financial statements, the Corporation used the equity method to account for its investments in subsidiaries and associates. In order for the amounts of the net profit for the year, other comprehensive income for the year and total equity in the financial statements to be the same with the amounts attributable to the owners of the Corporation in its financial statements, adjustments arising from the differences in accounting treatments between the parent company only basis and the consolidated basis were made to investments accounted for using the equity method, the share of profit or loss of subsidiaries and associates, the share of other comprehensive income of subsidiaries and associates and the related equity items, as appropriate, in these financial statements.

c. Classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities

Current assets include:

- Assets held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- Assets expected to be realized within 12 months after the reporting period; and
- Cash and cash equivalents unless the asset is restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least 12 months after the reporting period.

Current liabilities include:

- Liabilities held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- Liabilities due to be settled within 12 months after the reporting period, and
- Liabilities for which the Corporation does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least 12 months after the reporting period.

Assets and liabilities that are not classified as current are classified as non-current.

d. Foreign currencies

In preparing the Corporation's financial statements, transactions in currencies other than the Corporation's functional currency (i.e., foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Exchange differences on monetary items arising from settlement or translation are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when fair value was determined. Exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items are included in profit or loss for the period except for exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognized directly in other comprehensive income; in which cases, the exchange differences are also recognized directly in other comprehensive income.

Non-monetary item denominated in a foreign currency and measured at historical cost is stated at the reporting currency as originally translated from the foreign currency.

e. Inventories

Inventories consist of raw materials, supplies, finished goods and work in progress and are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Inventory write-downs are made by item, except where it may be appropriate to group similar or related items. The net realizable value is the estimated selling price of inventories less all estimated costs of completion and costs necessary to make the sale. Inventories are recorded at the weighted-average cost on the balance sheet date.

f. Investments in subsidiaries

The Corporation uses the equity method to account for its investments in subsidiaries.

A subsidiary is an entity that is controlled by the Corporation.

Under the equity method, an investment in a subsidiary is initially recognized at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Corporation's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the subsidiary. The Corporation also recognizes the changes in the Corporation's share of the equity of associates attributable to the Corporation.

When the Corporation's share of loss of a subsidiary exceeds its interest in that subsidiary (which includes any carrying amount of the investment accounted for using the equity method and long-term interests that, in substance, form part of the Corporation's net investment in the subsidiary), the Corporation continues recognizing its share of further loss, if any.

Any excess of the cost of acquisition over the Corporation's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of a subsidiary that constitutes a business at the date of acquisition is recognized as goodwill, which is included within the carrying amount of the investment and is not amortized. Any excess of the Corporation's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of a subsidiary that constitutes a business over the cost of acquisition is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

The Corporation assesses its investment for any impairment by comparing the carrying amount with the estimated recoverable amount as assessed based on the investee's financial statements as a whole. Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount exceeds the recoverable amount. If the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases, the Corporation recognizes a reversal of the impairment loss; the adjusted post-reversal carrying amount should not exceed the carrying amount that would have been recognized (net of amortization or depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized in prior years. An impairment loss recognized on goodwill cannot be reversed in a subsequent period.

Profit or loss resulting from downstream transactions is eliminated in full only in the parent company only financial statements. Profit and loss resulting from upstream transactions and transactions between subsidiaries is recognized only in the parent company only financial statements and only to the extent of interests in the subsidiaries that are not related to the Corporation.

g. Investments in associates

An associate is an entity over which the Corporation has significant influence and which is neither a subsidiary nor an interest in a joint venture.

The Corporation uses the equity method to account for its investments in associates.

Under the equity method, investments in an associate are initially recognized at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Corporation's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the associate. The Corporation also recognizes the changes in the Corporation's share of the equity of associates attributable to the Corporation.

Any excess of the cost of acquisition over the Corporation's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of an associate at the date of acquisition is recognized as goodwill, which is included within the carrying amount of the investment and is not amortized. Any excess of the Corporation's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities over the cost of acquisition, after reassessment, is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

When the Corporation subscribes for additional new shares of an associate at a percentage different from its existing ownership percentage, the resulting carrying amount of the investment differs from the amount of the Corporation's proportionate interest in the associate. The Corporation records such a difference as an adjustment to investments with the corresponding amount charged or credited to capital surplus - changes in capital surplus from investments in associates and joint ventures accounted for using the equity method. If the Corporation's ownership interest is reduced due to its additional subscription of the new shares of the associate, the proportionate amount of the gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate is reclassified to profit or loss on the same basis as would be required had the investee directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. When the adjustment should be debited to capital surplus, but the capital surplus recognized from investments accounted for using the equity method is insufficient, the shortage is debited to retained earnings.

When the Corporation's share of losses of an associate equals or exceeds its interest in that associate, the Corporation discontinues recognizing its share of further loss, if any. Additional losses and liabilities are recognized only to the extent that the Corporation has incurred legal obligations, or constructive obligations, or made payments on behalf of that associate.

The entire carrying amount of an investment (including goodwill) is tested for impairment as a single asset by comparing its recoverable amount with its carrying amount. Any impairment loss recognized is not allocated to any asset, including goodwill, that forms part of the carrying amount of the investment. Any reversal of that impairment loss is recognized to the extent that the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases.

The Corporation discontinues the use of the equity method from the date on which its investment ceases to be an associate. Any retained investment is measured at fair value at that date, and the fair value is regarded as the investment's fair value on initial recognition as a financial asset. The difference between the previous carrying amount of the associate attributable to the retained interest and its fair value is included in the determination of the gain or loss on disposal of the associate. The Corporation accounts for all amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate on the same basis as would be required had that associate directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities.

When the Corporation transacts with its associate, profits and losses resulting from the transactions with the associate are recognized in the Corporation's financial statements only to the extent of interests in the associate that are not related to the Corporation.

h. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss.

Except for freehold land which is not depreciated, the estimated useful lives, residual values and depreciation methods are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effects of any changes in the estimates accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

i. Investment properties

Investment properties are properties held to earn rental and/or for capital appreciation. Investment properties also include land held for a currently undetermined future use.

Investment properties are initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss. Depreciation is recognized using the straight-line method.

On derecognition of an investment property, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

j. Intangible assets

Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment loss. Amortization is recognized on a straight-line basis. The estimated useful lives, residual values, and amortization methods are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in the estimates accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an intangible asset, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

k. Impairment of property, plant and equipment, investment properties, and intangible assets other than goodwill

At the end of each reporting period, the Corporation reviews the carrying amounts of its property, plant and equipment, investment property and intangible assets, excluding goodwill, to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss. When it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Corporation estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Corporate assets are allocated to the smallest group of cash-generating units on a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation.

The recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. If the recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is reduced to its recoverable amount, with the resulting impairment loss recognized in profit or loss.

When an impairment loss is subsequently reversed, the carrying amount of the corresponding asset, cash-generating unit or assets related to contract costs is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but only to the extent of the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized on the asset, cash-generating unit in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss.

l. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Corporation becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issuance of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at FVTPL) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at FVTPL are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

1) Financial assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis.

a) Measurement categories

Financial assets are classified into the following categories: Financial assets at amortized cost and investment in equity instruments at FVTOCI.

i. Financial assets at amortized cost

Financial assets that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at amortized cost:

- i) The financial assets are held within a business model whose objective is to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- ii) The contractual terms of the financial assets give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Subsequent to initial recognition, financial assets at amortized cost, including cash and cash equivalents, notes and accounts receivable, other financial assets-current, other receivables and refundable deposits, are measured at amortized cost, which equals the gross carrying amount determined using the effective interest method less any impairment loss. Exchange differences are recognized in profit or loss.

Interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the gross carrying amount of such a financial asset, except for:

- i) Purchased or originated credit-impaired financial asset, for which interest income is calculated by applying the credit-adjusted effective interest rate to the amortized cost of such financial assets; and
- ii) Financial asset that is not credit impaired on purchase or origination but has subsequently become credit impaired, for which interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the amortized cost of such financial assets in subsequent reporting periods.

A financial asset is credit impaired when one or more of the following events have occurred:

- i) Significant financial difficulty of the issuer or the borrower;
- ii) Breach of contract, such as a default;
- iii) It is becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or undergo a financial reorganization; or

- iv) The disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties.

Cash equivalents include time deposits with original maturities within 3 months from the date of acquisition, which are highly liquid, readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments.

- ii. Investments in equity instruments at FVTOCI

On initial recognition, the Corporation may make an irrevocable election to designate investments in equity instruments as at FVTOCI. Designation as at FVTOCI is not permitted if the equity investment is held for trading or if it is contingent consideration recognized by an acquirer in a business combination.

Investments in equity instruments at FVTOCI are subsequently measured at fair value with gains and losses arising from changes in fair value recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in other equity. The cumulative gain or loss will not be reclassified to profit or loss on disposal of the equity investments; instead, it will be transferred to retained earnings.

Dividends on these investments in equity instruments are recognized in profit or loss when the Corporation's right to receive the dividends is established, unless the dividends clearly represent a recovery of part of the cost of the investment.

- b) Impairment of financial assets

The Corporation recognizes a loss allowance for expected credit losses on financial assets at amortized cost (including accounts receivable).

The Corporation always recognizes lifetime expected credit losses (ECLs) for accounts receivable. For all other financial instruments, the Corporation recognizes lifetime ECLs when there has been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition. If, on the other hand, the credit risk on a financial instrument has not increased significantly since initial recognition, the Corporation measures the loss allowance for that financial instrument at an amount equal to 12-month ECLs.

Expected credit losses reflect the weighted average of credit losses with the respective risks of default occurring as the weights. Lifetime ECLs represent the expected credit losses that will result from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument. In contrast, 12-month ECLs represent the portion of lifetime ECLs that is expected to result from default events on a financial instrument that are possible within 12 months after the reporting date.

For internal credit risk management purposes, the Corporation considers the following situations as indication that a financial asset is in default (without taking into account any collateral held by the Corporation):

- i. Internal or external information shows that the debtor is unlikely to pay its creditors.
- ii. Financial asset is more than 150 days past due unless the Corporation has reasonable and corroborative information to support a more lagged default criterion.

The impairment loss of all financial assets is recognized in profit or loss by a reduction in their carrying amounts through a loss allowance account.

c) Derecognition of financial assets

The Corporation derecognizes a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party.

On derecognition of a financial asset at amortized cost in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable is recognized in profit or loss. On derecognition of an investment in an equity instrument at FVTOCI, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable is recognized in profit or loss, and the cumulative gain or loss which had been recognized in other comprehensive income is transferred directly to retained earnings, without recycling through profit or loss.

2) Equity instruments

Debt and equity instruments issued by the Corporation are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangements and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

Equity instruments issued by the Corporation are recognized at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

The repurchase of the Corporation's own equity instruments is recognized in and deducted directly from equity, and its book value is calculated based on the weighted average of stock types. No gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issuance or cancellation of the Corporation's own equity instruments.

3) Financial liabilities

a) Subsequent measurement

All financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

b) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The difference between the carrying amount of a financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid, including any non-cash assets transferred or liabilities assumed, is recognized in profit or loss.

m. Revenue recognition

The Corporation identifies contracts with customers, allocates the transaction price to the performance obligations and recognizes revenue when performance obligations are satisfied.

Revenue from the sale of goods comes from sales of metal stamped products. Sales of metal stamped products are recognized as revenue according to the terms of the sale agreed with the customer, such as when the goods have been delivered to the customer's specific location because it is the time when the customer has full discretion over the manner of distribution and price to sell the goods, has the primary responsibility for sales to future customers and bears the risks of obsolescence. Accounts receivable are recognized concurrently.

The Corporation does not recognize revenue on materials delivered to subcontractors because this delivery does not involve a transfer of control.

n. Leases

At the inception of a contract, the Corporation assesses whether the contract is, or contains, a lease.

1) The Corporation as lessor

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of a lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Lease payments (less any lease incentives payable) from operating leases are recognized as income on a straight-line basis over the terms of the relevant leases.

2) The Corporation as lessee

The Corporation recognizes right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for all leases at the commencement date of a lease, except for short-term leases and low-value asset leases accounted for applying a recognition exemption where lease payments are recognized as expenses on a straight-line basis over the lease terms.

o. Retirement benefits

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are recognized as expenses when employees have rendered services entitling them to the contributions.

Defined benefit costs (including service cost, net interest and remeasurement) under defined benefit retirement benefit plans are determined using the projected unit credit method. Service cost (including current service cost, past service cost) and net interest on the net defined benefit liabilities (assets) are recognized as employee benefits expense in the period in which they occur. Remeasurement, comprising actuarial gains and losses and the return on plan assets (excluding interest), is recognized in other comprehensive income in the period in which it occurs. Remeasurement recognized in other comprehensive income is reflected immediately in retained earnings and will not be reclassified to profit or loss.

Net defined benefit liabilities (assets) represent the actual deficit (surplus) in the Corporation's defined benefit plans. Any surplus resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of any refunds from the plans or reductions in future contributions to the plans.

p. Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

1) Current tax

According to the Income Tax Act in the ROC, an additional tax on unappropriated earnings is provided for in the year the shareholders approve to retain earnings.

Adjustments of prior years' tax liabilities are added to or deducted from the current year's tax provision.

2) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognized for all deductible temporary differences, unused loss carryforwards and unused tax credits for purchases of machinery, equipment and technology, research and development expenditures, and personnel training expenditures to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates and interests in joint ventures, except where the Corporation is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are recognized only to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and such temporary differences are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the assets to be recovered. A previously unrecognized deferred tax asset is also reviewed at the end of each reporting period and recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liabilities are settled or the assets are realized, based on tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Corporation expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

3) Current and deferred taxes

Current and deferred taxes are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity; in which case, the current and deferred taxes are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGMENTS AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION AND UNCERTAINTY

In the application of the Corporation's accounting policies, management is required to make judgments, estimations, and assumptions on the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis by the Corporation's management. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised if the revisions affect only that period or in the period of the revisions and future periods if the revisions affect both current and future periods.

As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, time deposits with original maturities of more than 3 months were $118,920 thousand and $60,000 thousand, respectively, which were classified as other financial assets - current. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the interest rates of the time deposits with original maturities of more than 3 months were 0.76%-4.65% and 0.76%, respectively.

Total accounts receivable at amortized cost	$ 715,074	$ 623,967

The average credit period of sales of goods was 60-180 days. No interest is charged on unpaid accounts receivable.

In order to mitigate credit risk, the management of the Corporation has delegated qualified personnel in accordance with the segregation of duties principle to be responsible for determining credit limits, credit approvals and other monitoring procedures to ensure that follow-up action is taken to recover overdue debts. In addition, the Corporation reviews the recoverable amount of each individual trade debt at the end of the year to ensure that adequate allowance is made for possible irrecoverable amounts. In this regard, the management believes the Corporation's credit risk was significantly reduced.

The Corporation measures the loss allowance for trade receivables at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs. The expected credit losses on accounts receivable are estimated using a provision matrix prepared by reference to the past default experience of the customer, the customer's current financial position, economic condition of the industry in which the customer operates. As the Corporation's historical credit loss experience does not show significantly different loss patterns for different customer segments, the provision for loss allowance based on past due status is not further distinguished according to the Corporation's different customer base.

The Corporation writes off accounts receivable when there is evidence indicating that the debtor is in severe financial difficulty and there is no realistic prospect of recovery of the receivables. For accounts receivable that have been written off, the Corporation continues to engage in enforcement activity to attempt to recover the receivables due. Where recoveries are made, these are recognized in profit or loss.

The following table details the loss allowance of notes and accounts receivable based on the Corporation's provision matrix.

These investments in equity instruments are held for medium to long-term strategic purposes. Accordingly, the management elected to designate these investments in equity instruments as at FVTOCI as they believe that recognizing short-term fluctuations in these investments' fair value in profit or loss would not be consistent with the Corporation's strategy of holding these investments for long-term purposes.

The Corporation held an interest in Top Taiwan XIII Venture Capital Co., Ltd. and it was accounted for as an associate. On May 17, 2022, three additional directors were elected by the Corporation through the resolution of the shareholders in their meeting and the Corporation ceased to have significant influence over Top Taiwan XIII Venture Capital Co., Ltd. The Corporation accounted for the remaining interests as financial assets at FVTOCI rather than using the equity method. This transaction resulted in the recognition of a loss on disposal, which was calculated as follows:

Proceeds from disposal	$ -
Plus: Fair value of retained investment	44,752
Less: Carrying amount of investment on the date of loss of significant influence	(48,669)

When the Corporation's share of loss of an associate equals or exceeds its interest in that associate, the Corporation discontinues recognizing its share of further loss, if any. The amounts of unrecognized share of losses of Zen Material Technology Inc. and Chia Chain Precious Hardware & Electronics (Suzhou) Co., Ltd. from the relevant financial statements of the associates, both for the year and cumulatively, were as follows:

	For the Year Ended December 31

The above items of property, plant and equipment are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Buildings
Main buildings	20-45 years
Elevators	15-20 years
Others	5-8 years
Machinery and equipment	2-10 years
Miscellaneous equipment	2-10 years

Property, plant and equipment pledged as collateral for bank borrowings are set out in Note 24.

12. INVESTMENT PROPERTIES

Except for depreciation recognized during the year, the Corporation did not have significant addition, disposal, or impairment of investment properties for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021. Investment properties are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of 45 years.

Management was unable to reliably measure the fair value of investment properties located at Dafeng St., Luzhu District, Taoyuan City 338028, Taiwan (ROC) because of the remote location. The market for comparable properties is inactive and alternative reliable measurements of fair value are not available; therefore, the Corporation determined that the fair value of the investment properties is not reliably measurable.

The investment properties of the Corporation were held under freehold interests. The investment properties pledged as collateral for bank borrowings are set out in Note 24.

Accounts payable are not bearing interest. The Corporation has financial risk management policies in place to ensure that all payables are paid within the pre-agreed credit terms.

15. RETIREMENT BENEFIT PLANS

a. Defined contribution plans

The Corporation adopted a pension plan under the Labor Pension Act (LPA), which is a state-managed defined contribution plan. Under the LPA, the Corporation makes monthly contributions to employees' individual pension accounts at 6% of monthly salaries and wages.

b. Defined benefit plans

The Corporation adopted the defined benefit plan under the Labor Standards Act, under which pension benefits are calculated on the basis of the length of service and average monthly salaries of the six months before retirement. The Corporation contributes amounts equal to 2% of total monthly salaries and wages to a pension fund administered by the pension fund monitoring committee. Pension contributions are deposited in the Bank of Taiwan in the committee's name. Before the end of each year, The Corporation assesses the balance in the pension fund. If the amount of the balance in the pension fund is inadequate to pay retirement benefits for employees who conform to retirement requirements in the next year, The Corporation is required to fund the difference in one appropriation that should be made before the end of March of the next year. The pension fund is managed by the Bureau of Labor Funds, Ministry of Labor (the "Bureau") The Corporation has no right to influence the investment policy and strategy.

All the employees of the Corporation who are under the defined benefit plan have been converted to defined contribution plan in 2014. The Corporation no longer recognized cost of defined benefit since 2015.

For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Corporation contributed $67 thousand and $66 thousand, respectively, to the retirement fund deposited in the Bank of Taiwan. The fair value of plan assets increased by $447 thousand and $91 thousand, respectively, because of the interest on the deposits.

c. Retained earnings and dividends policy

The amendments to Articles of Incorporation were resolved by the shareholders in their meeting on June 22, 2022. Under the dividends policy as set forth in the amended Articles, where the Corporation made a profit in a fiscal year, the profit shall be first utilized for paying taxes, offsetting losses of previous years, setting aside as legal reserve 10% of the remaining profit, setting aside or reversing a special reserve in accordance with the laws and regulations, and then any remaining profit together with any undistributed retained earnings shall be used by the Corporation's board of directors as the basis for proposing a distribution plan, which should be resolved by the shareholders in their meeting for the distribution of dividends and bonuses to shareholders. In the preceding paragraph, the board of directors is authorized to adopt a resolution to distribute dividends and bonuses in cash, and a report should be submitted in the shareholders' meeting. For the policies on the distribution of compensation of employees and remuneration of directors after the amendment, refer to compensation of employees and remuneration of directors in Note 18-(d).

The Corporation distributes dividends after taking into consideration its future capital needs and long-term financial plans. Where the Corporation made a profit in a fiscal year, the Corporation could propose cash dividends between 10% and 100% of distributable earnings. The shareholders may adjust the ratio of dividends to reflect the profit and the adequacy of capital.

Appropriations of earnings to legal reserve shall be made until the legal reserve equals the Corporation's paid-in capital. The legal reserve may be used to offset deficits. If the Corporation has no deficit and the legal reserve has exceeded 25% of the Corporation's paid-in capital, the excess may be transferred to capital or distributed in cash. In the preceding paragraph, the board of directors is authorized to adopt a resolution to capital or distributed in cash, and a report should be submitted in the shareholders' meeting.

When a special reserve is appropriated for cumulative net debit balance reserves from prior period, the special reserve is only appropriated from the prior unappropriated earnings.

The appropriations of earnings for 2021 and 2020 that had been resolved by the shareholders in their meetings on June 22, 2022 and July 30, 2021, respectively were as follows:

Additional special reserve should be appropriated for the amount equal to the difference between net debit balance reserves and the special reserve appropriated on the first-time adoption of IFRSs. 20. EARNINGS PER SHARE

Net Income for the Year

	For the Year Ended December 31
	2022	2021
Earnings used in the computation of basic and diluted earnings per share	$ 644,914	$ 908,801

Employees share options	1,990	1,635
Weighted average number of ordinary shares used in the computation of diluted earnings per share	144,358	144,003

The Corporation may settle the compensation of employees in cash or shares; therefore, the Corporation assumes that the entire amount of the compensation will be settled in shares, and the resulting potential shares will be included in the weighted average number of shares outstanding used in the computation of diluted earnings per share, as the effect is dilutive. Such dilutive effect of the potential shares is included in the computation of diluted earnings per share until the number of shares to be distributed to employees is resolved in the following year.

21. CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

The Corporation manages its capital to ensure that it will be able to continue as a going concerns while maximizing the return to stakeholders through the optimization of the debt and equity balance. The Corporation's overall strategy remains unchanged.

The capital structure of the Corporation consists of net debt (borrowing offset by cash and cash equivalents) and equity of the Corporation (comprising issued capital, reserves, retained earnings and other equity).

Key management personnel of the Corporation review the capital structure on an annual basis. In order to balance the overall capital structure, the Corporation may adjust the amount of dividends paid to shareholders, or the number of new shares issued or repurchased.

22. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

a. Fair value of financial instruments that are not measured at fair value

The disclosures of fair value are not required for financial instruments that are not measured at fair value but with carrying value approximating fair value such as cash and cash equivalents, notes and accounts receivable, other financial assets-current, refundable deposits, short-term borrowings, notes payable, accounts payable, other payables and guarantee deposits.

b. Fair value of financial instruments that are measured at fair value on recurring basis

d. Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Corporation's major financial instruments include equity investments, accounts receivable, accounts payable and borrowings. The Corporation's corporate treasury function provides services to the business, coordinates access to domestic and international financial markets, monitors and manages the financial risks relating to the operations of the Corporation through internal risk reports which analyze exposures by degree and magnitude of risks. These risks include market risk (including foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Corporation did not enter into or trade financial instruments, including derivative financial instruments, for speculative purposes. The Corporation's treasury function reports quarterly to the Corporation's board of directors.

1) Market risk

The Corporation's activities exposed it primarily to the financial risks of changes in foreign currency exchange rates (see (a) below) and interest rate (see (b) below).

There has been no change to the Corporation's exposure to market risks or the manner in which these risks were managed and measured.

a) Foreign currency risk

The Corporation has foreign currency denominated sales and purchases, which expose the Corporation to foreign currency risk. Approximately 80% of sales and almost 35% of costs are denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the Corporation.

The carrying amounts of the Corporation's foreign currency denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities are set out in Note 25.

The Corporation was mainly exposed to the U.S. dollar.

The following table details the Corporation's sensitivity to a 1% increase and decrease in the New Taiwan dollar (i.e., the functional currency) against the U.S. dollar. The sensitivity analysis included only outstanding foreign currency denominated monetary items, and adjusts their translation at the end of the year for a 1% change in foreign currency rates. A positive number below indicates a decrease in pre-tax profit associated with the New Taiwan dollar strengthening 1% against the U.S. dollar. For a 1% weakening of the New Taiwan dollar against the U.S. dollar, there would be an equal and opposite impact on pre-tax profit, and the balances below would be negative.

	U.S. Dollar Impact
	For the Year Ended December 31
	2022	2021
Profit or loss*	$ 7,621	$ 5,639

* The result was mainly attributable to the exposure on outstanding receivables and payables in U.S. dollar which were not hedged at the end of the reporting period.

b) Interest rate risk

The Corporation was exposed to interest rate risk because the Corporation borrow funds at fixed interest rates.

The carrying amounts of the Corporation's financial assets and financial liabilities with exposure to interest rates at the end of the reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2022	2021
Fair value interest rate risk
Financial assets	$ 190,260	$ 289,744
Financial liabilities	190,000	470,000
Cash flow interest rate risk
Financial assets	227,314	84,733

The sensitivity analysis below was determined based on the Corporation's exposure to interest rates for non-derivative instruments at the end of the reporting period. For floating rate assets, the analysis was prepared assuming the amount of the asset outstanding at the end of the reporting period was outstanding for the whole year.

If interest rates had been 25 basis points higher/lower and all other variables were held constant, the Corporation's pre-tax profit for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have increased/decreased by $390 thousand and $193 thousand, respectively.

c) Other price risk

The Corporation was exposed to equity price risk through its investments in equity securities. Equity investments are held for strategic rather than trading purposes. The Corporation does not actively trade these investments.

The sensitivity analysis below were determined based on the exposure to equity price risks at the end of the reporting period. If equity prices had been 1% higher/lower, the pre-tax other comprehensive income for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have increased/decreased by $556 thousand and $87 thousand, respectively, as a result of the changes in financial assets at FVTOCI.

2) Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that the counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Corporation. At the end of the reporting period, the Corporation's maximum exposure to credit risk, which would cause a financial loss to the Corporation due to the failure of the counterparty to discharge its obligation, could be equal to the total of the carrying amount of the respective recognized financial assets as stated in the balance sheets.

In order to mitigate credit risk, the management of the Corporation has delegated qualified personnel in accordance with the segregation of duties principle to be responsible for determining credit limits, credit approvals and other monitoring procedures to ensure that follow-up action is taken to recover overdue debts. In addition, the Corporation reviews the recoverable amount of each individual trade debt at the end of the year to ensure that adequate allowance is made for possible irrecoverable amounts. In this regard, the management believes the Corporation's credit risk was significantly reduced.

Since the counterparty of current funds is a financial institution with a good credit rating, the Corporation does not expect any material credit risk.

The Corporation's concentration of credit risk of 60% and 63% of total accounts receivable as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively, was attributable to the Corporation's three largest customers.

3) Liquidity risk

The Corporation manages liquidity risk by monitoring and maintaining a level of cash and cash equivalents deemed adequate to finance the Corporation's operations and mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows. In addition, management monitors the utilization of bank borrowings and ensures compliance with loan covenants.
